

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a process for the production of vitamin C from a substrate, such as for instance L-sorbose using a microorganism belonging to the genus Ketogulonicigenium.